RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION

The Identification and Personnel Data form of CHARLES SPURGEON JOHNSON dated August 15, 1955, reflects that from 1952 to an unspecified date he was a member of the Citizens Committee on Migratory Labor of the National Consumers League, 348 Engineers Building, Cleveland, 14, Ohio.

The files of the Cleveland Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation contain no information of a security type concerning the National Consumers League or the Citizens Committee on Migratory Labor.

On September 14, 1955, [redacted]

[redacted] National Consumers League, advised that in 1952 at her request Dr. CHARLES SPURGEON JOHNSON, as an authority on migratory labor, became a member of the Citizens Committee on Migratory Labor of the National Consumers League. By way of clarification [redacted] pointed out that the basic purpose of the League, which is supported by privately raised funds, is to represent the public interest in good labor standards. Prior to 1952, [redacted] related, the League received a substantial grant from the estate of one of its deceased members "to go into" the problems of migratory workers. Pursuant to the objectives of this grant, [redacted] stated, the Citizens Committee on

Migratory Labor was set up by the League to "work with" a subcommittee of the United States Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare. [redacted] stated that some members of the Citizens Committee testified before the subcommittee, but that Dr. JOHNSON was not called upon, and that, in effect, his membership "was merely on paper".

[redacted] advised that the national headquarters offices of the National Consumers League are in Cleveland, Ohio, and that the organization is not connected with any other organization of similar name.

Continuing, [redacted] advised that although she had known of Dr. JOHNSON as a distinguished leader in sociology for many years, she first met him personally in 1952 when both were members of President TRUMAN's Commission on Health Needs of the Nation. [redacted] stated that Dr. JOHNSON was highly regarded by the members of the Commission, to the best of her knowledge, and that she had been impressed by his strength of character, good judgment, and sound conservatism, as exhibited in his views expressed to the Commission. Emphasizing that she knows Dr. JOHNSON professionally only, [redacted] asserted that no information reflecting adversely on Dr. JOHNSON's character, morals, or associates has ever come to her attention.

[redacted] described Dr. JOHNSON as essentially a person who cherishes democratic principles. She does not question his loyalty to the United States, and noted that, so far as she knows, there has never been a "breath of suspicion" as to his patriotism. [redacted] volunteered the statement that, unlike a few of the leaders of his race, Dr. JOHNSON had never "fallen" for the Communist Party line that the Party was sincerely interested in the welfare of the members of his race. In this connection, [redacted] observed that Dr. JOHNSON impressed her as frank and outspoken in his views, and that in conversing with him she had never detected the slightest tinge of Communist sympathy. She expressed doubt that Dr. JOHNSON, whom she regards as a sensible, realistic man, would be credulous enough to be duped into lending his name to any Communist or Communist front enterprises. With respect to this observation, [redacted] said that over the years she has frequently seen prominent and respected names on literature of organizations she believed to be tainted by Communist influence, but has never seen Dr. JOHNSON's name on such lists. [redacted] knows of no associations, no foreign ties, and no lack of discretion on Dr. JOHNSON's part which might render him a security risk to the United States, and recommends him for any position of trust and confidence for which his professional training would qualify him.

The Communist Party, USA, has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

[redacted] was investigated in 1948 pursuant to the provisions of Executive Order 9835 and results of investigation were transmitted to the Civil Service Commission under the caption [redacted]
[redacted]

The Loyalty Review Board advised by letter dated September 12, 1948, that [redacted] resigned or otherwise separated from Federal service prior to a decision on loyalty. Subsequently the Loyalty Review Board advised by letter dated June 4, 1952, that [redacted] was considered "Eligible on loyalty," and set forth her position as Commissioner, President's Commission on Health Needs of the Nation, Washington, D. C.

Additional investigation of [redacted] was conducted in April and May, 1954, pursuant to Executive Order 10450, and results of investigation were transmitted to the Civil Service Commission under the caption previously indicated.

[redacted] was absent on an extended vacation until September 14, 1955. She stated specifically that her organization had no connection with Consumers Union. Report of SA [redacted] dated March 19, 1948, at Cleveland, in the LGE case on [redacted] (Bu file 121-864) sets out considerable information re the National Consumers League and notes that the [redacted] was one of its Presidents.

He stated that Dr. JOHNSON is a very prominent and capable educator in the United States, and that he has no reason to question his loyalty to the United States or the Democratic form of government. [redacted] Southern Regional Council, 63 Auburn Avenue, Atlanta, advised on September 8, 1955, that Dr. CHARLES SPURGEON JOHNSON has been affiliated with the Southern Regional Council in various capacities since 1944. [redacted] stated that Dr. JOHNSON has served as Chairman of the Executive Committee for several years during his period of membership in the Southern Regional Council. He stated that Dr. JOHNSON attends meetings of the Southern Regional Council on the average of one a year in the Atlanta area and that Dr. JOHNSON has never resided in the Atlanta area to his knowledge. He stated that he has been acquainted with Dr. JOHNSON for many years prior to 1944 and that he considers him to be the outstanding Negro educator in the United States. He stated that he would not hesitate to recommend Dr. JOHNSON for any position of trust and confidence, and advised he considers him to be an individual of excellent moral character, associates and reputation, and a completely loyal citizen.

[redacted] advised on May 7, 1953, that he resided at [redacted] and he was the [redacted]

[redacted] He stated he wished to refute an allegation made in a periodical entitled, "One Methodist Voice", dated April 19, 1953, published at Clayton, Georgia, [redacted] Clayton, Georgia, alleging that [redacted] was a Communist Party sympathizer. [redacted] stated he was not and had never been a member of the Communist Party or knowingly belonged to any Communist Party front organization. [redacted] stated he considered himself to be anti-Communist, and believed the attack made upon him could be attributed to the fact that he was connected with the Southern Regional Council.

[redacted] made available in March of 1945, information to the effect that one of the main problems of the Southern Regional Council was that of international peace. Information furnished by [redacted] further identified the Southern Regional Council as follows:

The Southern Regional Council was the outgrowth of the consciousness among progressive Southerners of the need for a Southwide agency for the promotion of constructive social and economic reforms. Another factor contributing to the formation of the Southern Regional Council was the Durham-Atlanta-Richmond Conferences of 1942-1943, in which Southern leaders, white and Negro, met together to work for a better South. The Southern Regional Council was chartered by the State of Georgia on January 5, 1944, and held its charter meeting on February 16, 1944.

The Council represents the forward-looking conscience and efforts of liberal Southerners to give Democracy a chance in the South. Although it is bi-racial in membership and staff, it is not exclusively a "race relations" organization. It believes in the improvement of economic, civic, political and educational conditions for the good of all the people.

The Southern Regional Council is a membership organization and is controlled by its members who make decisions on policy and program. The annual meeting is held in Atlanta, Georgia, on second Wednesday in October, and every member in good standing is entitled to vote either in person or by proxy. The Council is composed of a Board of Directors elected by the members; an Executive Committee and five standing committees, elected by the Board of Directors, and an Executive Staff which devotes its time to the promotion of the Council's program.

The Council believes the best methods for promoting social progress are honest discussion and cooperation, rather than agitation. Its functions are: (1) Research and survey to determine the facts and possibilities of constructive social action; (2) Educational work through publications, press, radio and personal contacts; (3) Cooperation with other agencies having liberal and humanitarian aims; (4) Consultative services to private or public agencies, and (5) The formation of constructive plans and proposals for the South that could be.

The Council operates in thirteen Southern states: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Virginia. Its voting members reside in these states. While the Council has a "regional" approach, it is not a defensive organization. It has declared its willingness to cooperate with like-minded organizations of a state, regional or national scope.

According to information furnished to [redacted] in March, 1954 [redacted] Congress of Industrial Organization-Political Action Committee, Atlanta, Georgia, was listed as one of the sixty members of the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council.

In the April 12, 1947, issue of the "Atlanta News Digest," [redacted] of the Farm Security Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, and more recently of the Congress of Industrial Organization-Political Action Committee, was described as being appointed the Executive Director of the Southern Regional Council.

During a prior investigation in July, 1944, a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation while in the presence of [redacted] noted that [redacted] or the Southern Negro Youth Congress. [redacted] personally contacted [redacted] in regard to a speech [redacted] was to make at an undesignated place. This Special Agent stated that [redacted] inquired from [redacted] whether the aims of the Southern Negro Youth Congress were the same as those of the National Negro Congress. and [redacted] replied that they were the same in substance. [redacted] according to this Special Agent, stated he was not in accord with some of the leaders of the National Negro Congress.

The Southern Negro Youth Congress and the National Negro Congress have been cited by the Attorney General as coming within the purview of Executive Order 10450.

[redacted] who has furnished both reliable and unreliable information in the past, advised in September, 1944, that [redacted] a member of the Communist Political Association, advised informant that [redacted] was also a member of the Communist Political Association.

The Communist Party and the Communist Political Association have been cited by the Attorney General as coming within the purview of Executive Order 10450.

[redacted] advised that [redacted] had addressed a leadership school of the Southern Negro Youth Congress which was held at Atlanta University, Atlanta, Georgia, on August 9, 1944.

The files of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Washington, D. C., reflect that an article appeared in the "Evening Star," Washington, D. C., dated August 9, 1928, and concerned the Brockwood College, Katonak, New York. This article identified [redacted] as an endorser of the Brockwood College and stated students of Brockwood have taken part in many labor and college strikes. The philosophy of Marx influences all of the subjects at the liberal college.

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on March 4, 1944, that [redacted] the Communist Party, USA, District No. 7 Birmingham, Alabama, in conversation, referred to [redacted] of Atlanta, Georgia.

No reference was made in the report to the Institute of International Education, Inc., of which the applicant lists himself as a member of the Board of Trustees. It is noted that in the reBulet, the CSC report contains a complete documentation of this organization. It is further noted that for NY to document this organization it would have to rely on information furnished by the CSC, Washington, D. C.

The applicant also lists himself as the vice chairman of the American Committee for Cultural Freedom, Inc.

Information contained in the NY files is not considered sufficiently significant to include in the report.

Details The information consists of the following:

"The New Leader," issue of 11/13/50, on pages 15-19 contains an article entitled "A Message to Americans" concerning the Congress for Cultural Freedom. This article indicates that the Congress originated from a meeting held in Berlin on June 25 (year not mentioned), which meeting included "some of the finest minds in the Western world" men, from France, Italy, Great Britain, West Germany, North and South America, who deliberated on the "fate of freedom." According to this article the nature of the Congress is best described in its own manifesto, which held among other things that freedom of the spirit is an inalienable right; and that the theory and practice of totalitarianism are the greatest threat which humanity has faced. The manifesto concluded: "We address this to all men who are determined to defend existing freedom, to win back those which have been lost, and to establish new areas of freedom."

The article stated that in the United States an American branch, the "American Committee for Cultural Freedom," at the time of the writing was being founded, initiated by the U.S. delegates to the Berlin Congress for Cultural Freedom.

The New York "Brooklyn Eagle," issue of 7/13/53, contained an item which reflected that four professors speaking for the American Committee for Cultural Freedom, had stated that a Communist is professionally disqualified as a scholar and teacher, but that the minute number on U.S. college campuses has little influence and poses no threat. This group indicated that no imaginable legislation could flow from the Congressional inquiries then under way concerning educators. They said the probes only serve to place the teaching profession "under a perpetual cloud of distrust."

[redacted] who has furnished reliable information in the past, on 2/18/54, made available to SA [redacted] and SE [redacted] information reflecting that the American Committee for Cultural Freedom had had a yearly subscription to the "Daily Worker" and "The Worker," expiring 1/25/54.

JOHNSON lists himself as a member of the Council Against Intolerance in America from 1953 to the present.

The ONI, 3 ND, advised in March, 1942, that "subject organization membership is an admixture of political outlooks. It includes Communists, Conservatives, Pacifists and Liberals. The person who seems to exert the most influence is [redacted] who is markedly pro-Communist. Subject cannot be considered a front organization....."

The ONI indicated the reliability of this information to be B-7. This information was marked confidential.

Outlook for a Negro College

Dr. Charles Johnson, Fisk's sixth presy., lists the university's aims and problems

By JAMES W. FORD

I MET Dr. Charles Spurgeon Johnson on the Fisk University campus and, after expressing my personal felicitations, I simply asked him for an interview for The Worker, of New York City. He set the time for the following day, Sunday, in his office.

Promptly at the appointed hour, Dr. Johnson walked into his office with his son and introduced me to him. He told his son of my own son, who was graduated from Fisk University in 1944 and who is now a senior at the Dental School of Meharry Medical College, adjoining Fisk's campus.

I had met Dr. Johnson first at Chicago in 1919. He had just been commissioned to investigate the 1919 "Race Riot." I had just become active in the labor movement of Chicago. I had not seen much of him during the intervening years; but I had followed his career with lively interest.

Dr. Johnson is 53 years of age. He spoke calmly as he perused the list of questions I had submitted. Here are the questions and their answers.

Question—What are the salient points of the plans for Fisk University?

Answer—In addition to the points of his inaugural address and his address in New York last winter, Dr. Johnson replied that there are two practical immediate steps, namely, (1) to develop and expand a scholarly faculty, and (2) to expand the physical surroundings, i.e., to secure funds for more buildings and for operation. This will require a sound financial program. The enrollment of students is near 900, the largest in the school's history. (I checked later and found that the students pay in registration and other fees 40 percent of the cost of operation. The balance has to be secured from other sources.)

Q. What is the relation of education at Fisk to education in the nation? The South? White institutions?

A. Fisk University has value for the nation and if it had the necessary means it can be a ranking institution. It is not necessary for it to be big to be good any more than being small and bad. Fisk has a stake and a responsibility in the South to help make it as a part of the nation, a land whose resources, social, physical and spiritual are developed for the welfare of all of its people.

There is nothing inherent in the surroundings of the South which makes it impossible for Fisk and white institutions

(James W. Ford here repeats an interview with Dr. Charles Spurgeon Johnson, first Negro president of Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee. The interview was held on the occasion of Dr. Johnson's inauguration as the sixth president of the university, Nov. 6, 7 and 8. The event drew to the famous institution representatives of nearly two-thirds of the universities of America, state and city officials, diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, and many outstanding leaders of the nation. It was featured by a series of educational seminars, musical concerts, literary presentations, and the highly colorful inaugural ceremonies.—Editor.)

to work cooperatively in the context of their mutual interest in the South's economic and educational advancement. Fisk has worked fairly well with a number of white schools, such as the University of North Carolina and colleges in Nashville itself. It has worked with Sarah Lawrence College and with departments at Peabody College. Its contact with Vanderbilt University has been spotty, but it gives promise of developing.

Q. What is the relation of education at Fisk to labor economics? How extensive?

A. In recent years the social science department of Fisk has given greater stress to labor economics than, for example, to money and banking as such. There is the likelihood that it will give more attention to the study of business administration, especially small business. This will depend, as it has in the past, on the department heads.

Therefore Dr. Johnson himself was head of the social science department and the syntheses of its work extended over all labor economics. Students' work ranged from TVA to plantation economy. They studied the tobacco and cotton industry and the development of labor organizations.

Q. Do students' organizations at Fisk have the right to invite and hear speakers on subjects of their own choice? What student organizations are there on the campus?

A. Dr. Johnson answered the first question in the affirmative, and he listed the following organizations at the school: The Student Council, the Men's Senate and the Women's Senate, the Students Christian Association, the International Student Center and the Judiciary Cabinet.

Students take part in governing the school through the joint committee of students and faculty, known as the Judiciary Cabinet. It handles all disciplinary cases, and the student members outnumber the faculty members on the Cabinet.

Q. To what extent do students participate in national and international student organizations for their cultural, religious, political, social and intellectual development?

A. Students take part in both national and international youth activities. There is, for example, Miss Norma Stokes, who represented Fisk at the Prague Conference last summer. They also take part in the National Student Association, and in regional conferences of Negro and white schools in the South. They sent an observer to the founding of the UN at San Francisco in 1945. International Student Center also keeps in touch with international affairs.

Q. Is it possible for students to develop a mutual democratic understanding with students of other countries? Soviet Union? European countries? Latin America? Asia and Africa?

A. There are yet no direct channels for this kind of understanding. Fisk, however, encourages its students in this direction. There are foreign students here from Latin America, Haiti and the West Indies. There are also African students and courses dealing with Africa and its people. Fisk hopes that a fellowship program will be established through which its students can go and live and study in Russia, Europe and in the Western Hemisphere, so that the inherent possibility of mutual democratic understanding can be developed.

Q. Do you think it feasible, desirable or beneficial that the large and financially strong trade unions should help endow Fisk University? Negro colleges and schools in general?

A. Trade unions have an important stake in education and their giving some attention to it would be helpful for schools and also for developing people for the organizational problems of labor. The old type of philanthropic support of Negro education is changing and the private schools that do not have the benefit of federal and state aid need money to help them in their work.

If trade unions reach the point of reducing the need of their strike funds because of the mediation that government provides, then some of that budget should go to the support of education. Moreover most of the students of Negro schools are children of workers.

Q. What is your attitude toward the much publicized anti-Communist incident which occurred at the International conference on the campus last summer?

A. Fisk believes in freedom of speech. All sides should be heard. No subjects are taboo. Last summer's incident was magnified out of all proportion to the actual facts of the situation. This was regretted and the matter was discussed with the faculty.

My interview closed on a personal note. I asked Dr. Johnson his personal feelings in his new position. His reply was warm and human, to this effect:

The shift and stress of new work has brought a different orientation. A great many more things are required of a college president than are required of any other profession. He has to be an educator, financier, scholar and public relations man. His work in the main has to be done democratically through committees. Yet he has got to get things done and he is held responsible if they are not done. He is expected to know everything pertinent to his own field and of other fields, too. He has to be on the job at the university and he also has to travel.

Dr. Johnson expressed intense interest in his new work as a part of the broad range of activities. He regrets not having as much time as before for direct field research and studies. But he thinks that there will be a balancing of things. He has liked teaching and working with students.

"It is better we know now," says Dr. Johnson, "to guard one's own liberty than to destroy that of others."

Reference is made to your memorandum of August 26, 1955 requesting information as to whether or not affiliation with the United States Commission for UNESCO (member Executive Committee) falls within the purview of Executive Order 10450.

The basic law governing appointments to the U. S. National Commission to UNESCO, Public Law 565, 79th Congress, Second Session, provides

"the Secretary of State shall cause to be organized a National Commission on Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Cooperation of not to exceed one hundred members.
Such Commission shall be appointed by the Secretary of State and shall consist of (a) not more than sixty representatives of principal national, voluntary organizations interested in educational, scientific, and cultural matters; and (b) not more than forty outstanding persons selected by the Secretary of State, including not more than ten persons holding office under or employed by the Government of the United States, not more than fifteen representatives of the educational, scientific, and cultural interests of State and local governments, and not more than fifteen persons chosen at large. The Secretary of State is authorized to name in the first instance fifty of the principal national voluntary organizations, each of which shall be invited to designate one representative for appointment to the National Commission."

The law further provides that one-third of the members shall serve a term of one year, one-third a term of two years, and one-third a term of three years, to constitute the initial National Commission, and thereafter members shall be appointed for a term of three years each, but no member shall serve more than two consecutive terms. The National Commission shall meet at least once annually. No member of the Commission shall be allowed any salary or other compensation for services except travel expenses not to exceed $10 per diem. The National Commission is further authorized to call special conferences of experts who are likewise remunerated and the Department of State is authorized to provide the necessary Secretariat for the Commission.

The law makes no provision for investigation or security clearance of the individual members of the National Commission and these members are not considered employees of the Department of State and do not come under the provisions of Executive Order 10450. However, since the Secretary has the responsibility for the selection of members of the U. S. National Commission to UNESCO the Department of State initiates appropriate inquiries on nominees to aid in the selection process. These inquiries are usually limited to name checks in national agencies as members do not need to have access to classified information of the Department of State.

With respect to Mr. Johnson, this office has been informed by the Department's Bureau of International Organization that Mr. Johnson is not presently a member of the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO.
